6 Courses

09/29/2016

Paulo Henrique Cardoso

has successfully completed the online, non-credit Specialization

Gestão de Produtos de Software

The recipient of this certificate has completed the Software Product Management Specialization. This achievement required mastering the knowledge and demonstrating the application of Agile practices within software processes, requirements, planning, and improvement to create better software products. The final Capstone course assessed the acquired knowledge and skills in a practical scenario involving product team interactions, which simulated the development of a software product from inception to delivery.

Kenny Wong

Kenny Wong
Associate Professor
Computing Science,
Faculty of Science